Once upon a Time... in the Hollow

The Lords and Ladies and their little Hogglets are invited to gather at Ye Olde Brookfield Park to make Merry with thy neighbours.

One and all should gather in the early morn to see the wares and handicrafts on sale in the market. Our own Mother Goose will tell tall tales and spin her yarns. Meanwhile the elders will sip their tea and tell fables of Fairs long ago.

At the stroke of 12noon, the Pied Piper will lead the duckies to the Don to launch a tournament on the water. Upon finishing, trumpets will blare heralding the opening of the Midway follies to the delight of all. There, be they young knights, Maid Marians, ladies-in-waiting or archers, all will joust, frolic and make merry.

When the melee is done, there will be old fashioned races and games afoot! Then just when Pinocchio's bragging gets biggest, the riverside winners will be crowned.

As Aesop dims the sun's glow, the Emperors and Empresses will gather back at the Park to parade their new clothes and Sing-A-Long a tune, wherein Edward Street Market Bistro will purvey his Majesty's Feast for one and all. To the delight of his subjects, Magen and his minstrels will entertain our musical souls. Then as the Mead and Grog run dry, Merlin will light the Hollow's skies with millions of magic fireflies.

As darkness falls and our carriages turn back into pumpkins and our crowns slip aside, we will wish our band of brothers and sisters goodnight till anon.

Valley Knight's Pancake Brekkie - 10:00 am

We bid you come to Brookfield Park in order to celebrate Pancake Day which began as a celebration in Medieval times. At the tolling of the bell, households prepared pancakes using four symbolic ingredients; flour for the staff of life, milk for innocence, salt for wholesomeness & eggs for vitality. As the years passed, the pancake remained King of the day and the tolling bell came to mean the beginning of a celebration. Come one, come all to celebrate the spirit of our Fair and enjoy our Valley Knights flipping the cakes! Bring your coins to trade for food.
